

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for a gas turbine compressor rotor is provided which offers improved characteristics to the rotor when used with at least titanium IMI834. Mechanical work is optimized through forging to provide at least improved low cycle fatigue life to the part.